
The Internet Business Owner's Resource Cheat Sheet

All the Tools and Resources You Need
To Run Your Internet Business

By Aurelius Tjin

Hi! It's Aurelius Tjin. Thanks for claiming your copy of the Resource Cheat Sheet.

Inside you'll find the tools and sites you need to get your online business up and running.

Before you go ahead, I'd recommend you take a look at my blog post where I share 16 of my favorite tools and sites I personally use:

<http://aureliustjin.com/16-must-have-tools-to-run-your-internet-business-from-anywhere>

Webhosting

If you want to host any website, you first need webhosting. Below are lists of hosting companies I personally use.

BlueHost

If you're looking for good value for money, then use BlueHost web hosting. They offer unlimited storage and domains. The best thing about it is that they have 1-Click installation of scripts like Wordpress.

I host a number of my smaller sites on BlueHost. Easy to use and great customer service.

Storm on Demand

Need more power or getting more visitors? I'd recommend Storm on Demand. If you plan to do any big launches or going to host websites that will produce high traffic, you need a robust server.

I proudly host all my websites with Storm on Demand because its servers are very reliable; they handle all my big and small product launches. Their customer support is superb. I normally get a reply within 5-10 minutes from one of the expert tech support staff whenever I need anything.

What sets Storm on Demand apart from other web hosts is its ability to scale up or scale down your server anytime you want with a click of a button. This is great because if you suddenly get a high load of traffic, you can upgrade to a more powerful server in one click.

Domain Registrars

Once you've signed up for hosting, you need to register for a domain name i.e. – a .COM, .NET, .ORG etc.

Namecheap

The only domain registrar I'd recommend is Namecheap. A lot of people register their domains with GoDaddy.

The problem with GoDaddy is that GoDaddy has full control over your domain in cases where someone makes a complaint, like accusing you of spam. Once GoDaddy has control over your domain, it's very unlikely you'll get your domain back. That's what makes Namecheap different.

You can register your domain at Namecheap, here:

www.namecheap.com

Payment Processors

To start accepting payments from customers, you need a payment processor.

Paypal is the most popular payment processor on the web. It is accepted in almost all countries. You can sign up for free

here: www.Paypal.com

With Stripe, you're able to accept credit card payments on your website. Stripe has its own set of fees, but it's quite competitive.

Product Management Systems

The largest digital product management system. I sell 95% of my products through JVZoo because they handle everything!

- Add as many products as you want
- Built in affiliate program
- Product delivery system
- Integrates with major autoresponder services
- Sales reports and tracking

Most affiliates are on JVZoo which means they're already signed up to become an affiliate of your products.

Warrior Plus

The logo for Warrior+Plus, featuring the text 'Warrior+Plus' in a bold, red font with a black outline, set against a yellow rectangular background.

Warrior Plus is an all-in-one system which allows you to sell products through the Warrior Forum (www.warriorforum.com) using their tools.

I actively use Warrior Plus because it also features my product in their marketplace, resulting in dozens of affiliates wanting to promote your product!

Support Desk Systems

HelpScout

This is our favorite help desk system. We use it for our own support desk at UnstoppableHelp.com. It's on the pricier side of help desk systems, but it's easy and intuitive to use which is what I love. Sign up at <https://www.helpscout.net/> . There's a free trial available.

Kayako Support

Kayako is a customer support ticketing software. You install it on your site so that customers can submit support tickets for your products/services.

You can download a free 30 day trial at:

www.kayako.com

Hesk

Here's a free support desk software that installs on your server. I use and recommend this one. It's easy to use. Just the way it should be!

You can download it here:

www.hesk.com

Autoresponder Services

AWeber

The most widely used autoresponder used by Internet marketers.

- Easily send your newsletters
- Easily build your opt-in list
- Manage your subscribers in one place
- Load your autoresponder sequence
- Easily track your emails
- High deliverability rate meaning you'll get more messages delivered to your subscribers.

I personally prefer AWeber.

Click here to start building your list with AWeber

GetResponse

GetResponse is also a good choice. Great deliverability rate.

Market Research

Before creating any product or breaking into a niche, you need to first research your market.

There are four main factors to look for:

1. Whether the market has high traffic
2. If the market has buyers
3. The market shouldn't be saturated or too competitive
4. Will the market grow in the long run? If it's just a trend or fad, it probably won't last long.

Here are some useful keyword tools to use to research your market...

Google's Keyword Planner

Productivity and Management

LastPass Password Manager

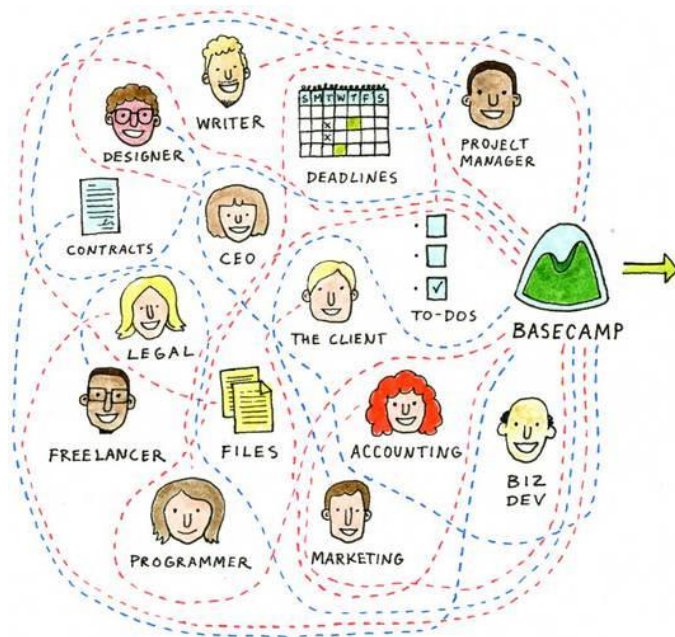

LastPass is a time saving tool. It remembers your passwords so you don't have to.

It's free. You can download your copy here:

www.lastpass.com

Basecamp

A very clean and easy to use project management tool.

<https://basecamp.com/>

Not only is Gmail an email service, it is also a the best email management service I and so many others use.

The features that stand out is the ability to "label" and filter emails. It also has a smart spam filter which blocks 99% of spam.

In short, you'll save a lot more time using this email service compared to other email services and clients.

You can sign up for a free account at:

Outsourcing

If you want to free up your time and grow your business then outsourcing should definitely be considered if you want to run a real business.

The truth is, you can't do everything yourself. There are people around the world who are experts at what they do, like designing graphics, writing content, answering emails, traffic generation and more.

Check the sites below to start outsourcing today:

Onlinejobs.ph

A great job seeking website where you can find skilled workers from the Philipines. I had personally found three of my staff here.

This is a great place to find virtual assistants.

www.onlinejobs.ph

Bestjobs.ph

Very similar to onlinejobs.ph. I'd recommend you try both.
